

Silicon Valley

MODERN LUXURY

1ST ANNIVERSARY ISSUE!

LEILA JANAH

CAN THE SOCIAL ENTREPRENEUR SAVE
THE WORLD THROUGH
TECH & BEAUTY?

SPRING FASHION

ROYAL GARMENTS FOR MODERN TIMES
5 MUST-KNOW LOCAL DESIGNERS
WHERE TO GET THE SEASON'S BEST LOOKS

PLUS

BONA FIDE BLUES: HOW THE VALLEY
BECAME AN UNLIKELY MUSIC MECCA

PROMOTION

about town

Stanford Medicine Women's Health Lunch

January 31, 2017

On Tuesday, January 31, the Sharon Heights Country Club in Menlo Park hosted the eighth annual Stanford Medicine Women's Health Lunch. The event featured Dr. Maya Adam—a lecturer at Stanford University's School of Medicine and author of Food Love Family—presenting the talk "Our Relationship with Food: How to Make It a Healthy One."

Photography by Drew Altizer

The beautiful Sharon Heights Country Club

Margaret Raffin, David Entwistle, Maya Adam and Candler Evan

David Entwistle and Maya Adam

Margaret Raffin

Wendy with pet friends from left, Paris, France; our Canine Concierge Fleur de Lis; Wendy's Baby Hope; Gizmo (who has thousands of Facebook fans); tiny Yorkie Jasmine; wire-haired terrier Lola; and Bodie.

Baby Hope enjoying an Enchanté Boutique Hotel custom wine crate dogbed.

Enchanté Boutique Hotel honors Animal Advocate Wendy Diamond

The power and influence of women was felt Saturday, February 6, in downtown Los Altos when Abby Ahrens, the dynamic developer and owner of Enchanté Boutique Hotel, hosted a reception for media personality and entrepreneur Wendy Diamond. More than 17 years ago, Diamond launched Animal Fair, one of the country's leading dog and pet lifestyle media companies, and became a trailblazer, pioneer, and media darling in the animal welfare world—she holds three Guinness records and is sometimes called "the Martha Stewart of pet lifestyle." Diamond also founded the global initiative and United Nations partner Women's Entrepreneurship Day, celebrated in 144 countries and at 102 universities and colleges. Along with her dog Baby Hope, Diamond was introduced by CBS news anchor Veronica De La Cruz and presented with a formal proclamation from the County of Santa Clara and the City of Los Altos honoring her for her tireless efforts to empower women with a vision to end poverty around the world. Besides Ahrens, other prominent members of the local organization WE (Women Entrepreneurs) Los Altos were also present, plus New York developer Arthur Zeckendorf, NBC Today show etiquette expert Tom Farley, and other local leaders of nonprofit and for-profit businesses.

Photography by Trisha Leeper Photography

Wendy Diamond, Tom Farley from the Today Show, and CBS' Veronica De La Cruz

Dog trainer and behaviorist Jimi Dixon, Wendy Diamond with Baby Hope, and Enchanté Boutique Hotel owner Abby Ahrens with Paris, France, in the stunning Carrera Ladies Powder Room with Chrystal Chandelier. Fabric by Robert Allen